NOVEL, THOUGH CONSERVATIVE GOWNS AT AUTUMN WEDDINGS

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Much interest has recently focused upon several fashionable weddings. It has become the custom to linger later and later out of town each season, and the scene of each of these notable functions was a well-known country estate. Nature is truly at her best in early November, and the house parties attendant upon these events were in every instance voted a big success. The air had just enough snap to it to make the glowing wood fire a magnet, and to render appropriate the wearing of smart autumn toilettes.

The gowning, while extremely elegant, was on the whole marked by conservatism. It is an acknowledged fact that the well-bred woman does not, except in isolated instances, accept literally the extremes of fashion; rather, she modifies and individualizes the most pronounced features. Once in a while one encounters someone on the type of Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden, perhaps, who possesses the stature and personality to wear striking gowns without being over-conspicuous; but such exceptions only prove the rule.

On the majority of women known for their good taste in dress we now see drapery, voluminous, many times; but owing to the softness of the material in which it is expressed, seldom bulky; tunics frequently full and a trifle flaring, but not often exaggerated; panniers more times simulated by the folds of the skirt than actually an over-drapery.

A very effective black velvet toilette was worn by an attractive Western woman. It is shown in our first sketch. The jacket was very short in front, but came down long in the back. Its folds were held in place for three-quarters of the circumference of the waist by a loose, drooping belt. Collar and cuffs were made of one of the prettiest novelty velvets we have yet seen. The ground was changeable blue and green, on which appeared splashes of gray-orange dull green and red, so arranged as to form an indefinite plaid.

The scant, three-piece skirt of black velvet was trimmed with two wide bias bands of the plaid. With this gown was worn a very charming hat, having a soft "tam" crown and flaring side brims of tarnished silver lace. A dull green and orange feather fancy was posed at the right side-back. Quite "in the picture" was her big black velvet bag, swung, by a heavy silver guimp.

Another interesting costume, less dressy in type, is shown in the second sketch. Soft putty-colored duvetyne striped with royal blue was the body fabric. It had a little black satin waistcoat and a flat collar of squirrel dyed royal blue to match the stripe in the fabric. The hat was of the duvetyne, with a band of the blue fur framing the face, and a blue and putty-colored stick-up posed jauntily at the left side. With this was worn a delicate vest of pleated net and cream-colored Valenciennes lace. The skirt was a simple four-gored affair, quite innocent of drapery, worn with a crushed girdle of the black satin.

Speaking of weddings, one naturally reverts to the trousseaux, and this calls to mind some of the wonderfully lovely negligees brought out this season. Two distinct types are noticeable in these more intimate garments of the feminine wardrobe. First, the fairy-like robes for strict boudoir wear which are the ultimate of exquisite daintiness, and then the somewhat daring gowns in which milady sips her tea or entertains a chance caller.

To the first class belong sets of houndstooth jacket, cap and petticoat of gossamer muslin, embroidered in pink and blue forget-me-nots, and trimmed with exquisite Valenciennes lace. Cretonne breakfast jackets are another novelty. One we saw recently showed a gay pompadour design, cut on the lines of the loose Balkan jackets we have had this summer. It was belted below the waist with black ribbon velvet, and had a narrow black velvet band outlining the V-shape neck.

A peignoir, which in its effective simplicity evidenced a stroke of genius, was cut after the fashion of a choir-boy's surplice. It was made of shimmering ivory satin, high in the neck but with sleeves, as in the surplice, coming just to the elbow. The only ornamentation was a wreath of small, many-colored, made silk roses, with their green leaves encircling the neck.

Of more formal garments for interior wear the novelty of the season is the so-called "smoking gown," and many women, who, from motives of morals or manners frown upon the cigarette, do not hesitate to include

USEFUL YUMA PIONEER CITIZEN LAID AT REST

The funeral of Capt. C. V. Meeden took place yesterday afternoon at the Methodist church, Rev. J. A. Crouch conducting the services, and the remains were escorted to the cemetery by a large number of friends, where they were laid to rest beside his wife. Thus the long and useful life of a pioneer of Arizona, a good friend, and a kind and affectionate husband and father, and a worthy citizen has been brought to a close.

GOV. CRAIG WORKS ON THE STATE ROAD

(Union Associated Press)

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE LABOR WORLD

Colorado convicts are interested in the building of state roads.

The strike of the chauffeurs driving mail wagons in New York, was the first realization that many Gothamites had of the fact that there were so many automobiles used for collecting second, third and fourth class mail in the metropolis.

Brooklyn women are excited over the discovery that the "bandeaux" for their fall and winter hats are mostly made of second-hand material rags that have been fished out of filthy rag shops and sold to bandeau manufacturers.

The strike of the photo-engravers of Toronto, which has been going on for over eight months, has been settled to the satisfaction of the members of the union. The contest was one of the most strenuous ever waged in Ontario.

Colorado, in addition to mining millions of dollars worth of silver and gold annually, is one of the greatest coal mining states west of the Mississippi river, and ranks seventh among all the states.

Charles G. Taylor, president of the First National Bank, of Canal-over, O., is a roller at the American Sheet and Tinplate company's plant. Rollers make big money, often $20 a day.

Members of the board of permanent seat of government and the state capitol commission turned down the demand of representatives of the Missouri building trades for a union clause in the contract for the construction of the new state capitol.

At a convention of the California Federation of Labor, May Cummings, of the Garment Workers' Union of San Francisco, caused a sensation by introducing resolutions prohibiting delegates from voting in the convention if they could not show at least four union labels on their garments.

A society known as the United Kingdom Employers' Defense Union has been formed, and is to be registered as a trade union. Toward a guarantee fund of $250,000,000 to be used for the protection of employers against aggressive tactics by trade union combinations, two promises of $250,000 each and many of $50,000 have been received.

Nothing more appropriate to give to your friends. Leave your orders early with M. ELIZABETH BAILEY, Artist. Idilwild School of Arts.

ALLEGED DYNAMITER TO HAVE HEARING BEFORE COMMISSIONER

(Union Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 5.—The hearing of Harry W. Jones, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, before U. S. Commissioner H. S. Young comes up for hearing today. Jones is under $10,000 bond. The charge against him is conspiracy to transport explosives illegally.

Jones was taken in custody here following the arrest and confession of George, alias George O'Donnell, an ironworker in New York. Davis was brought to this city, and it is expected that he will repeat his confession before the United States grand jury, which convenes here November 11.

NEWS OF NATIONAL INTEREST TOLD BY OUR CORRESPONDENT

(By J. E. JONES)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 5.—(Special to the Yuma Daily Examiner)

There seems to have been no end of political dickerings over the currency bill, but the indications are that the Democratic members of the senate, notwithstanding the controversies that have been taking place in the committee, are getting closer together, and while he time is getting short for the disposal of this great piece of legislation, yet it is felt that the Democratic forces are settling their differences outside of the senate chamber. Although it will be a record-breaking piece of work if the bill is passed before the end of the special session, yet it is felt that the chances of victory for the Democratic policy are better than they were a fortnight ago. Vice President Marshall, who has been a faithful aide to the president, considers the situation safe, and he has announced that he will spend a short vacation time in Indiana and Mexico before settling down to the regular winter work in Congress.

Mexican Election Methods

Senator Gallinger relates a good Mexican story. "When Porfirio Diaz was president," says the senator, "I was in Mexico, in the little town of Parral, Chihuahua. The election had been held the day before and one of the ballot boxes was in the office of a friend of mine. I asked him to 'tell me about the election.' 'Well,' he said, 'all I know is that some time during the day one old man came in and put a piece of paper in the box. That night the judges of election reported that Diaz had received 348 votes in that precinct, with not a vote against him.'"

The Ice Makers

The manufacture of artificial ice, covered by census statistics for 1909, indicates that the rivers and lakes of the country have a strong competitor among the private establishments that manufacture the frozen water. It appears that in 1909 there were 3,004 establishments in the United States, which were engaged in the manufacture of ice. The members employed in the industry was 21,107 of whom 16,114 were wage earners. The capital invested amounted to $113,641,538, and the value of prod-

BIDS ARE WANTED FOR GILA RIVER BRIDGE

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Supervisors yesterday the site for the Gila River bridge at Antelope was determined on and Clerk Roy Hansberger was directed to have advertisements for bids for the construction published. The contracts will provide that the common labor required in the building of the bridge shall be done by the convicts from the state prison.

MOVEMENT STARTED TO ORGANIZE BEE MEN

On Saturday, November 8, at 2 p. m., meeting will be held in Yuma for the purpose of bringing all the beemen of this county and surrounding territory together. The intention of this meeting is to become acquainted with one another, exchange ideas, and secure a permanent organization.

The bee industry of this county is no longer in its infancy. We need the cooperation of the entire number of bee men to secure the best results.

Methods of arrangements of apiary locations, methods of handling and ways of fighting disease should be ably discussed.

All should be interested in this big meeting, whether you have one colony or more, or if you intend to handle bees.

People from Bard and Laguna are requested to be on hand.

CITIZENS HELP MAKE GOOD ROADS IN TEXAS

(Union Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 5.—Automobile clubs, commercial organizations, schools and colleges have all volunteered to work for good roads in Texas today and tomorrow. In some sections of the state shops have been closed down for at least a day so that the employees might help work on the roads.

NUT GROWERS SHOW REMARKABLE EXHIBIT

(Union Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 5.—The National Nut Growers' Convention meeting here has a remarkable exhibit of nuts. Pecan crop in Texas is reported unusually large this year.

TAMMANY MEETS A DEFEAT AT LAST

Murphy and Tammany went down to defeat in New York yesterday, and Sulzer won in the sixth. This is Progressivism with a vengeance.

ENGINEER PREPARES PLANS FOR NEW ROADS

Civil Engineer Kellogg, who is to assist in preparing plans for the county roads for which bonds were recently voted, made a trip over the road between Yuma and the Laguna dam in company with County Road Superintendent Smarr yesterday.

FROM THE BALKAN STATES

"Greetings from the Balkan States. B. S. JOHNSON." The above is from the Yuma valley date man, now in Europe.

HIGH SCHOOL BOND MONEY IS NOW READY

The high school bonds are now in the hands of the First National bank ready for the signatures of the supervisors as soon as Chairman F. E. Elliott returns from Phoenix, where he is attending the good roads convention. As soon as the signatures are affixed the $60,000 for the building and furniture and grounds will be subject to the order of the high school board of trustees.

THE WEATHER REPORT

At 5 p. m. yesterday the temperature stood at 77, with a relative humidity of 32 per cent.

'LANDY' REPORTS 2 BIG MINES VERY BUSY

"Landy" Melendrez, in a letter to a friend in Yuma, gives several interesting news items of mining operations at and near Tumco.

The Tumco mine is now dropping 20 stamps and is handling, on the average of 80 tons of ore in 24 hours. At the American Girl mine there is a large force of men engaged in retimbering the mine and repairing the machinery. The old pipe line is being replaced by one that uses oil for fuel.

BAPTIST MINISTER TO TELL US OF BAALAM

"Baalam" will be the subject at the Valley Baptist church next Sunday evening at 7:30. All are cordially invited.
